What are the reasons for it? In the following sentences, I'll venture to explore the reasons. To start with, the only-child policy in China has made more and more parents pay much attention to their children that they would like to replace their children to do everything. In addition, parents don't believe that their children have enough ability to deal with their personal matters and make any decisions.

第三段：采取措施解决此现象（套用解决问题功能段）

There are some suggestions given to our parents. For one thing, it is quite important for our parents to realize that their children will grow up and have their own ideas as time goes by. I contend that our parents should give their children a free hand in some matters to help them to be independent.

第二段：解决问题的原因（套用分析原因功能段）

What are the causes of this problem? On the one hand, to earn more economic gains, a considerable number of manufactures usually wrap their products with unnecessary but appealing materials aiming at attracting customer's attention, arousing their curiosity and then stimulating their purchasing desire. On the other hand, quite a few customers believe that the more delicate the package seems, the superior the quality will be, the notion has also encouraged the trend of excessive packaging.

To change this situation, I think we should take the following measures. First, laws must be made and implemented to impose restriction on excessive packaging. They point out the fact that some individuals argue that it should be abandoned or replaced by other programs.

第二段：反方观点 + 理由（套用观点阐述功能段）

There is a grain of truth in these statements, but they ignore a more important fact. Other people who stand on a different

第二段：对引语的原因解释（使用原因分析功能段）

There are many reasons explaining my opinion. For one thing, on the one hand, with the advancement of science technology and medical level, people can transform their surface by all means. On the other hand, the appearance should not be the merely criteria for judging an individual, considering that are more important factors, including Courteous, kind-hearted, honest and so on.

第一段：描述现象引出话题（套用现象描述功能段）

In recent years, the ignorance of Chinese has been prevailing among students. Some refuse to go to the Chinese classes, and some read few Chinese classics. In contrast, more and more students attach more importance to foreign language study.

第二段：分析此现象产生的原因（套用分析原因功能段）

There are three premier factors that can account for such phenomenon. First and foremost, the globalization greatly stimulates the students' craze for learning English, which in turn affect students' passion for studying Chinese. Moreover, fewer and fewer universities motivate students to study Chinese. Last but not least, the increasing emphasis on such "practical projects" as foreign language closely related to hunting jobs also cut into students' time and energy. Therefore, students' weakness in Chinese would undoubtedly not only lead to their ignorance of Chinese culture but also hinder the study of other projects.

第三段：观点结论（套用结论功能段）

In my view, effective measures are called for to solve the problem. First, it should be made clear to the whole society that Chinese is one indispensable part of our culture and race. Second, schools should attach more importance to the teaching of Chinese. Third, students should enhance their awareness of the importance of mastering their mother tongue.

Along with the development of society, more and more problems are brought to our attention, one of the most serious problem is that whether to attend college at home or abroad.

第二段：正反观点阐述（套用观点阐述功能段）

According to a survey, some people are in favor of the idea of getting higher education at home. They point out the factor that studying at home gives them a sense of security, which means, the help from family or friends is always available whenever they encounter some troubles; they also argue that experiencing cultural shock is unavoidable and terrible for students studying overseas, so the "homeland higher education" makes life happier and then they will concentrate more on their curriculums. Other people who stand on the different ground. They firmly point out that studying overseas enables them to be independent and try their best to adapt to every aspect abroad. Many employers say graduates from universities abroad are better at analyzing and solving problems on their own.

第三段：观点结论段（套用观点结论功能段）

第一段：问题描述（套用问题描述功能段）

Along with the development of society, more and more problems are brought to our attention, one of the most serious problems is piracy, which has become more and more serious. Books, tapes, and other high-tech products have been pirated.

第二段：分析解决问题的原因（套用分析原因功能段）

Piracy has caused a great loss to legitimate producers, inventors and writers in many ways. To start with, the pirated products often cost much less than the genuine ones so that they enjoy a better trading position in spite of their relatively poor quality. The genuine products, on the contrary, sell poorly. What's worse, pirated books sometimes do great harm to the authors' reputation due to some misprints. In the long run, pirated products may have a negative impact on customers.

第三段：采取措施解决问题（套用解决问题功能段）

In my opinion, it's high time that everyone started the battle against piracy. First, customers should develop their consciousness to resist the pirated products. Second, the government should take effective measures to put an end to piracy. Finally, laws must be strictly enforced to completely ban piracy. Only in this way can we wipe the pirated products out of our life.
